Review and feedback on the educational and professional programme 'International Economics' of the second (master's) level of higher education of the School of Economics of V. N. Karazin Kharkiv National University

The educational and professional programme 'International Economics' of the second (master's) level of higher education is modern, comprehensive and meets the requirements for the training of highly qualified specialists in the field of international economics. The programme provides in-depth knowledge that enables graduates to work effectively in both the public and private sectors.

Particularly positive is the practice-oriented training, which significantly increases the competitiveness of students in the international labour market. In addition, the programme includes modern disciplines dedicated to the global economy, international business innovations, and global issues of our time, which are important for adapting to the current challenges of the world economy.

At the same time, in order to enhance the practical orientation of the programme, it is recommended to involve representatives of foreign business, international companies and financial organisations in the classes more actively. This will allow students to gain real knowledge of the current challenges and opportunities of the international economy, learn about the practical aspects of doing business in a global environment, and establish professional contacts with potential employers. Guest lectures, master classes, and interactive panel discussions with foreign experts will help you to better understand the real processes in the international economy.

In general, the programme has significant potential and provides high-quality training, but the integration of international experience through active interaction with international business representatives will make it even more effective and competitive.

Sincerely yours,

André Fritsche
